To: Resident and Student Members (only); Tennessee Academy of Family Physicians

SUBJECT: CALL FOR RESEARCH PAPERS (Firm Deadline of August 1)

The Research Committee of the Tennessee Academy of Family Physicians (TNAFP) is pleased to announce the “Call for Resident and Student Research Papers” for the 73rd Annual Scientific Assembly to be held at the Park Vista DoubleTree Hotel, Gatlinburg, the week of October 25-28, 2022. If you are involved in research, the Research Committee would very much like to have you participate in this Research Paper Competition to let others know of, and to acknowledge, your work.

Three abstracts will be selected by the Tennessee AFP Research Committee from those abstracts submitted for actual presentation as part of the TNAFP's 2022 Annual Scientific Assembly program. Those selected will have the opportunity to present their research paper to a large audience of family physicians from throughout the mid-south who attend the Tennessee AFP's Annual Scientific Assembly. Those three selected for presentation during the scientific program will have up to two (2) night's lodging and car mileage paid.

For abstracts submitted but not selected as one of the three for actual presentation, the Research Committee will review with the same academic rigor for possible poster display presentation of their research at the 2022 TNAFP Annual Assembly. A maximum of 8 posters may be selected for display if they meet requirements for suitability, design, conclusions, and impact to the practice of Family Medicine. All rules and guidelines (provided) listed in the “Call for Resident and Student Research Papers” will apply to poster display presentations on Thursday, with additional requirements for only poster display presentations included.

Important – Only members can submit research to be considered - You MUST be a member of the Academy at the time you submit your research! You also must be a resident or student member in good standing in Tennessee at the time of the Annual Assembly in October to be eligible to participate.

To submit a Research Paper, please complete and return the attached ‘Application’. Students & Residents Please Note – You MUST include YOUR personal contact information including current address, phone number and email on your submission form for your Paper to be accepted for review by the Research Committee. (Attention Academic Faculty: If you would like to be copied on responses sent to your student and/or resident, please include your name, address and email on the submission form where indicated.)

Please Note: If you plan to submit research for consideration by the TNAFP Research Committee, please mark your calendar for the week of October 25-28, 2022 when you submit your research to the TNAFP, in the event your research is selected for presentation during the assembly program or selected for research poster display so your attendance is assured.

On behalf of the Tennessee Academy of Family Physicians, we hope you will be able to attend the Annual Meeting in Gatlinburg this year, and that you will consider submitting a Research Paper for consideration by the Research Committee. Requirements, Rules and Guidelines for the Research Paper Competition are included with this mailing.
